Ohio Land Gets Going-Over

Soil Inventory Being Conducted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 26 million acres of land are getting the most thorough going-over since miles-high glacial ice-masses leveled hills and filled in valleys at the dawn of history.

This modern move across the ant is being made by men instead of glaciers—research parties of Ohio's Division of Lands and Soil and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Their job is to determine what kinds of soil lie across Ohio's surface and where these soil types are located. These crews are returning to their outdoor trekking and digging now that the weather is improving.

The soil inventory began in 1952, three years after the Lands and Soil Division was created within Ohio's Department of Natural Resources. Division Chief G. Kenneth Dotson figures it will take another 10 to 12 years.

Planning commissions take the information to avoid—where possible—turning especially valuable agricultural land into industrial, commercial or residential developments.

And it's useful to road-builders and those erecting small buildings because they must know if the soil base will hold the structure. Other users are tax assessors and land appraisers.

Using aerial photographs of the land supplied by the Soil Conservation Service, plus additional photographs shot from Ohio Department of Highway planes, the search parties actually walk the terrain, mapping the location of various types of soil, degree of erosion, relative productivity and slope of the land.

Dotson says it costs something over $70,000 to map a county (which coincides in Ohio with a soil conservation district). It may take up to four calendar years or 15 man-working years to complete a county. Research party members work on the maps during the time bad weather keeps them in doors.

Division personnel have completed inventories of soil resources in Allen, Clinton, Paulding, Ross and Wood counties, and will finish Fayette this year.

U. S. Soil Conservation Service crews have reported on Clark and Fairfield counties, have finished in Columbiana County but not reported, and will complete Preble County this year.

Light Snow Falls Over Northeast

A light snow fell early today over most of the northeast portion of the country.

The snow glazed Salem streets with a treacherous film of ice in the early evening, but city crews were soon out in force, salting and ashing.

The low temperature record ed last night at the city's sewage plant was 13 degrees.

Some snow, of varying density, also fell over portions of the Northwest. About the heaviest there was one-fourth inch in the Portland, Ore., area.

The Northeast's snow, driven by a low pressure area out of the Atlantic, overlapped into the Upper Ohio Valley, over the Appalachians and into eastern Tennessee.

Most of the Northeast was hit Thursday by a storm that dropped up to 18 inches of snow under power of 40 miles-per-hour winds.

In a two-day sweep from the Midwest to Northeast, the storm took a total of 27 lives, 16 of them in Wisconsin.

The Chicago Weather Bureau said most of northern Maine to-day lay under a blanket of 40 or more inches of snow.

Showers fell early today over most of Washington state, Oregon and northern California. Scattered snow was noted over upper elevations of Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

Early temperatures ranged under the freezing mark in the Northeast, the north central area and in the northern Rockies. Most of the country had readings in the upper 20s and 40s, except the Southwest where 50s and 60s predominated, and along the western Gulf Coast and southern Florida where temperatures were in the 50s.

War Investigating Committee, which served as Truman's spring-board to national prominence.

The dinner party was arranged by Charles Patrick Clark, who served as counsel for that long ago committee Truman headed. Many of Washington's most prominent faces—old and new, Republican and Democrat—beamed at the former president around the banquet table.

Visibly moved by many tributes, Truman who is 76 told them: "I'm going to do what I can (for the country), but I haven't much left."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, arrived early to get Truman's autograph on a picture made at the Truman Library at Independence, Mo.

Just before the guests sat down for dinner — they included Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Speaker Sam Rayburn — President Kennedy bustled in.

Kennedy, his blue striped shirt hardly in keeping with the black-tie affair, did a lot of hand-shaking, and hurried off into an adjoining room to greet a dinner for Democratic party fund raisers.

Kennedy told this group he will attend a May 27 fund raising ball to be given in honor of his 44th birthday.

He didn't mind, Kennedy said, that his birthday is really May 29. "Of course," the President said, "this is just an excuse on which to have a dinner to raise some money. I am told we owe a million dollars more than we thought we did. We certainly could not have afforded to lose this election."

National Chairman John M. Bailey estimated the party deficit at $2.8 million.

To demonstrate his affection for Truman, Kennedy told the party dinner he hopes to attend a ceremony at Independence April 15 dedicating a Thomas H. Benton mural in the Truman Library. The mural depicts the starting of westward trail blazing from Independence.

Truman, in return, promised to come to Washington to speak at the May 27 party fund-raising dinner.

Dispute Rages Over Performers' Fees

Paar Challenges Sullivan To Settle Differences Through Rating Duel

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan offered today to take his price war with Jack Paar over performers' fees before the late-night television public and to debate Paar on Paar's own show.

Sullivan, star of a show on CBS, made the offer in answer to Paar's challenge that the two settle their differences by staging a rating duel.

Paar issued the challenge on his nationwide NBC-TV program Thursday night, suggesting he appear on the NBC network from 8 to 9 p. m. some Sunday against Sullivan and see who gets the higher audience rating.

All Facilities At Georgia U. Open to Negroes

U.S. Judge Issues Ruling; Peaceful Compliance Urged

By The Associated Press
The dining room, swimming pool and all other facilities at the University of Georgia have been opened to the first two Negro students ever to attend the 175-year-old institution at Athens.

The ruling by U. S. District Judge W. A. Bootle at Columbus, Ga., cleared the way for full use of educational "facilities and opportunities" by Charlayne A. Hunter and Hamilton E. Holmes and all others of their race who may go to the university.

Requested Clarification
Bootle issued the decree Thursday after Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook and the attorney for the two students asked clarification of the judge's original admittance order.

Cook said Miss Hunter wanted to use the dining facilities, Atty. Donald L. Hollowell of Atlanta asked the ruling be made all-inclusive, specifying in particular the campus swimming pool.

Both Dr. O. C. Aderhold, president of the university, and Cook urged orderly and peaceful compliance with the ruling. The two students have voluntarily refrained from using dining, library and other facilities since their admission in January.

Cook said he planned no appeal from the court decision. But he said an appeal was pending from the original order and would be pressed.

The University of Georgia ruling came the same day the New Jersey Civil War Centennial Commission said it would boycott commemorative ceremonies next month in Charleston, S. C., because a Negro commission member would be denied integrated hotel facilities there.

23 Negroes Convicted
A total of 23 Negroes in two states were convicted in connection with the sit-in demonstrations which have been in progress in the South for more than a year.

Nineteen college students were sentenced to 30 days in jail or fines of $100 each on breach of peace charges growing out of a sit-in at a public library in Sum-

Income Tax Office Open 5 Days Week

If you've any questions to ask concerning the city's income tax, the tax office at City Hall is open Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. City Auditor Helen Coyle announced today.

During April, when the quarterly period collection begins, the office also will be open Saturday mornings.

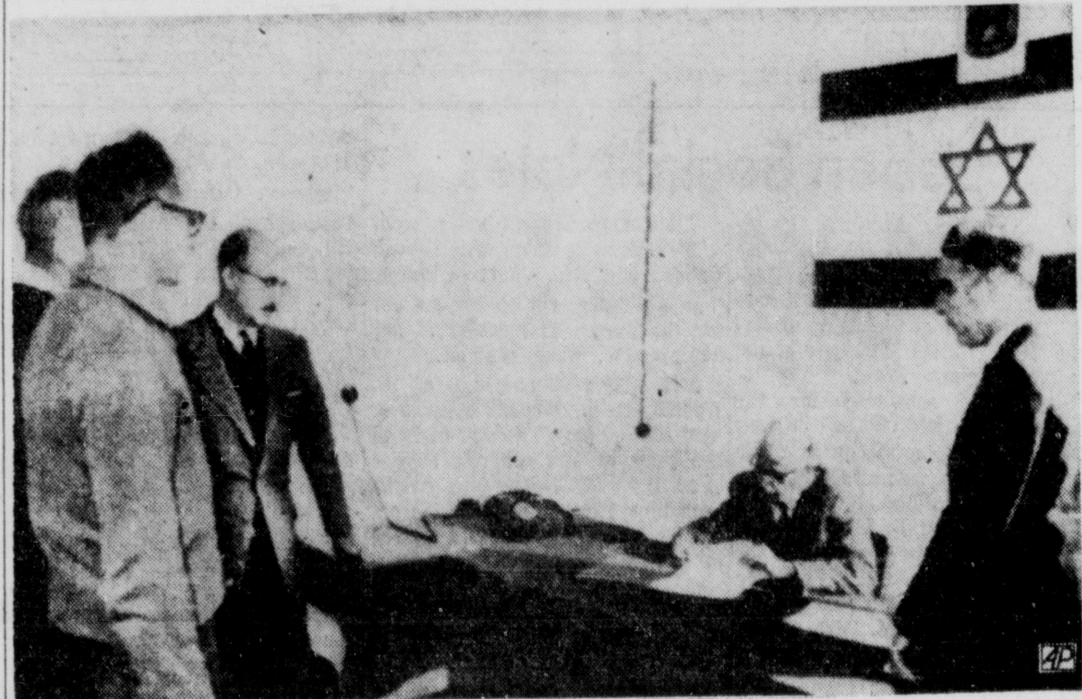

The tax office will assist any individuals in filing their reports, the auditor said. Orvil C. Hoover is deputy auditor.

The City Council-enacted income tax of one-half of one per cent went into effect Jan. 1.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Albert Thomas, D - Tex., backed Coffin. He said a steel plant in Turkey would create a market for American steel that does not now exist.

As it turned out, the subcommittee denied the entire $150 million request.

Whether the full committee or the House of Senate will vote to grant it remains to be seen.

Kirwan Blasts Aid For Turkey

Lashes at Proposed Steel Plant Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government proposal to lend several million dollars to help build a steel plant in Turkey ran into congressional opposition because of unemployment in the steel industry in this country, including thousands of steel workers in Ohio.

Spokesmen for the Kennedy Administration countered that steel plants in some foreign countries actually would stimulate a demand for American steel.

But some members of Congress argued that more steel production overseas could only damage the steel business in this country.

The controversy developed at a recent House appropriations subcommittee hearing. The Development Loan Fund, a government agency, was asking $150 million, some of it for a loan for the proposed plant in Turkey.

The request aroused Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, who comes from the important steel city of Youngstown.

"We are producing here at only 45 per cent of the nation's capacity," Kirwan said. "No doubt we played a major role in the financing of these foreign steel industries."

"Now their production is being imported here and harming our local industries."

Frank Coffin, managing director of the Development Loan Fund, took issue. He said the fund always makes sure about the impact of a foreign plant's output on the U.S. economy.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Albert Thomas, D - Tex., backed Coffin. He said a steel plant in Turkey would create a market for American steel that does not now exist.

As it turned out, the subcommittee denied the entire $150 million request.

Whether the full committee or the House of Senate will vote to grant it remains to be seen.

Woman, Girl Injured In Road Mishaps

A 24-year-old East Liverpool woman is in fair condition in East Liverpool City Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic mishap occurring on Rt. 30, near the intersection of Rt. 30, at 5:10 p.m. on Thursday.

Injured was Mary A. Pethel of RD 2, East Liverpool, when her station wagon collided with a truck trailer operated by Arthur M. Henderman, 34, of Marietta. She received a possible fractured skull, broken ribs and left knee, and lacerations of both knees.

Highway patrolmen said the accident occurred when Henderman applied the brakes on the northbound truck at the Rt. 30 intersection, causing the truck to jack-knife on the ice left of center and hit the northbound station wagon head-on.

The car was demolished, patrolmen said. Investigation into the accident is pending, they said.

Darlene Spicer, 3, of North Lima, was treated for minor injuries at Salem City Hospital and released following a one-car mishap on Rt. 14, one mile east of Salem, at 5:50 p.m. Thursday.

Patrolmen said the westbound car she was riding in, driven by her mother, Billie Sue Spicer, 24, of North Lima, slid on ice into two newspaper boxes and into the ditch on the left side of the highway.

Darlene received lacerations of the scalp in the accident, patrolmen said. Damage to the car was moderate, they said.

The project is Operation Mohole, being conducted off the coast of Southern California.

The first step Thursday was the lowering of more than 3,000 feet of drill pipe to the ocean bottom, then drilling a few feet into the sediment. Operations are conducted from a special drilling ship.

Cores punched from the sub-oceanic bottom will be brought up in subsequent days. The core material will be of great interest to scientists because it comes from a kind of earth layer never more than superficially penetrated.

It will be the first learning step toward getting samples from an earth level which may have been this world's surface a billion or so years ago.

Getting samples from that level will take several years, several million dollars and considerable experimentation.

Late drilling will be in deeper water—12,000 feet and more—off the coast of North America.

If the tests succeed fully — reaching the original surface where life began—scientists may uncover the course of the evolution of life, age by age.

The goal is to drill through the earth's outer crust and reach into its mantle which scientists believe is a very hard kind of rock 3 1/2 to 10 miles below the top crust.

Previous drilling at sea has been done through shallow water about 400 feet deep. Such efforts have penetrated to about 10,000 feet below the earth surface, but the sediment at that level is less revealing scientifically than material below greater ocean depths.

Mohole — technically called "Mohorovicic Discontinuity" — is a mysterious division between the crust and the mantle, and gives the project its name. The work is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

11 Kivu Leaders Released From Stanleyville Jail

U.N., Congo Agree On Joint Control Of Air Traffic

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Eleven captured leaders of Kivu have been released from a Stanleyville jail where they had been held since leftists seized their province last year, the United Nations said today.

While this indicated a change in attitude by the rebel regime, the U.N. command was unable to confirm reports from the leftist capital that Moscow-backed Antoine Gizenga had been deposed there.

Lumumba Policy Supporters

Those reports said either the rebel military commander, Gen. Victor Lundula, or President Jean Foster Manzikala of Oriental Province had taken over. Both are considered firm supporters of the policies of the late ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

But both were reported to have vigorous measures to prevent reprisals against whites in Stanleyville after Lumumba's slaying last month in Katanga Province. Manzikala also has strong tribal backing in Stanleyville, something Gizenga never had.

A U.N. spokesman reported the release of Jean Miroho, former president of Kivu, and 10 members of his provincial government.

Miroho had paid at least lip service to the central government at Leopoldville and had resisted pressure from Stanleyville to join up with Gizenga. Gizenga sent in a raiding party last December, arrested Miroho and his officials, and took control of Bukavu, the provincial capital.

Continues Negotiations

In Leopoldville, the U.N.'s Congo mission continued negotiating with Congolese leaders on the terms for the return of U.N. troops to the key ports of Banana and Matadi.

The U.N. spokesman told newsmen he could not comment on Congolese reports that agreement has been reached by which the United Nations and the Congolese would exercise joint control of air traffic here. This was one major Congolese condition for permitting U.N. forces to return to the ports.

Maj. Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish commander of U. N. forces, was reported to have agreed to a form of joint control over U. N. air traffic in the Congo.

The Congolese informants gave no details of the reported agreement. Nor did they say whether the Congolese were modifying other conditions they said must be met before they would allow U.N. troops to return to the port of Matadi, from which a Sudanese garrison was driven Sunday after two days of fighting.

Other major Congolese demands for opening up Matadi, where 33 U. N. ships are expected within the next week or so, were: (1) Joint control over other strategic

Housing Bill Faces Changes

Democrats Hope for Enactment by May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress talked today of enacting President Kennedy's $3.25 billion housing program by May—but acknowledged it would not be easy.

Even before the President sent up the actual legislation to be considered, there were signs that Congress might make changes in his proposals, now heavily weighted toward halting decay in cities and easing the housing problems of lower-income families.

The two Alabama Democrats who head the housing subcommittees of the Senate and House, Sen. John J. Sparkman and Rep. Albert Rains, got together on a tentative schedule that calls for the Senate to move first. Democrats count on easier going in the Senate than in the House, where Republicans picked up a net of 22 seats in last year's election.

Rains said the GOP gains "inevitably make it a nip and tuck battle on the House floor."

Senate hearings are expected to start late this month, making a vote possible before the end of April. The House then might act by late May.

Some congressional sources said they expect strong pressure from the building industry for changes in the bill that would help sell houses perhaps up to the $25,000 class. These might include lower down payment requirements.

Under the Kennedy proposals, the mortgage financing liberalization would be slanted particularly at houses costing $13,500 or less.

The President also proposed a go-ahead for construction of 100,000 public housing units. Republicans usually oppose large public housing programs.

Buyers In Search of Bargains

We felt sure the strident cry of "Buy American!" would be heard increasingly as unemployment deepened, and that is the way it is turning out.

An Ohio legislator wants to bar state purchases of imported articles. The editor of a magazine circulated in the steel industry tells what bad things foreign-made steel does to domestic steel production.

Letters to the editor state the case for saving home industry by boycotting products made abroad. These and a dozen other reactions are predictable.

To the extent that Americans will continue to worry about employment for themselves, they will view with varying degrees of alarm the presence of imported goods that provided employment for foreign workers.

They will make the easy assumption that if these goods had been barred, they would have been replaced by goods made in the United States thereby providing jobs for American workers.

Right then and there the complications begin.

A YOUNG married man with a growing family and a tight budget needs a new raincoat. He sees one displayed in a store. It strikes his fancy. He looks at the price.

He looks again, because the price is so much lower than he expected it to be. A clerk asks him if he would like to try on the coat. The clerk points out the good features of the garment. Then the potential buyer sees the label:

"Made in Japan."

The clerk notices the customer's crestfallen expression and explains that the store's buyer considered carefully whether to stock Japanese-made garments but finally decided in their favor because they were an extraordinary bargain compared with similar garments made in the United States.

As customers, we are supposed to be shaping an international trade policy that actually never was ours to make.

We owe it to ourselves to make our purchasing power stretch as far as possible. That was why we forced U.S. auto manufacturers to give us smaller cars to stretch our gasoline dollars. We bought foreign-made compacts until our own auto industry gave us a better break.

IT NEVER was our decision to set up American-financed plants and operations abroad to make U.S. investments go further; that was high finance and Yankee shrewdness.

But it is our decision to go shopping to our best advantage, and how mad we are supposed to get when the Japanese make as good a raincoat for less money and a store buyer makes it possible for us to buy something we like at a price we can afford to pay?

Do "Buy American!" advocates think we should twist the arms of legislators to frame and pass restrictive laws to keep the price of raincoat high or their quality low so U.S. raincoat makers will have jobs? Do we owe this to American workers out of our buying power? Would they do the same for us?

Americans trying to stretch their buying power can't be blamed for buying bargains. We used to say imported goods were cheap because their quality was poor—no match for high-quality American goods. We don't make generalizations like that any more. They don't always hold water.

Some of the stuff made abroad puts American quality in the shade. For the first time in our buying lifetimes, our designers and artisans have competitors who can look down their throats.

As would-be purchasers of the best merchandise we can find at the most advantageous prices, we certainly do not hold it against merchants who cater to our needs. We'll buy American whenever buying American makes sense. We'll always give American goods the benefit of a doubt—of course we will. But we'll give ourselves the benefit of a doubt, too.

If American goods aren't in a competitive position, must we be expected, as buyers, to subsidize their handicap if we have a free choice?

UNEMPLOYMENT in this country is highest in industries whose wage rates have been forced to the highest levels and whose production costs have been booted out of sight by arbitrary bargaining.

It's absurd that hundreds of thousands of unemployed people in the United States are unemployed at wage rates of $3 an hour if anyone could afford to pay them.

Some of these people, too, must be happy to find bargains in stores where they go shopping, even if the bargains are made in Japan or some other country. They appreciate the saving.

That was the original idea—that customers would get more and more for less and less in the age of mass production. It made the 20th century the Golden Age for more people than ever dreamed of having a crack at an abundant life a century ago.

But the idea got off the track whenever people who did mass producing quit passing along a fair share of the benefits to people who were expected to do mass consuming.

Employers, employees, economists, politicians—a lot of different kinds of people had a hand in the mistake. It will require a lot of different kinds to unmake the mistake, if it can be corrected.

And in the meantime, let no one think things will be better if enough people cry "Buy American!" and wave flags.

That won't solve the problem.

That Man May Come Back

When the United Nations General Assembly recessed before Christmas, it was as though a smash hit had overrun itself on Broadway. All the excitement caused when Nikita Khrushchev and his coterie of political headlines put on their show in September had bused out by December.

But now the General Assembly is coming back in session again and tension is mounting.

WILL KHRUSHCHEV again take off his shoe and pound the desk?

A Good Move

As newspapermen who have covered their meetings will attest, the Court House basement offices of the Columbian Board of Education are small indeed. Now, however, as the result of an agreement with the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission, the Board of Education will move into the four large rooms presently occupied by the Commission on the third floor of the Court House.

The Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission, which doesn't need as much room, will transfer its records to the basement quarters. Its magnanimous gesture also will effect a $1,000 savings which the Commission can put to good use in its charitable work among veterans.

Courthouse offices and staffs don't always see eye-to-eye, but this agreement has been worked out to the satisfaction of both parties and in the best interests of the public.

Delayed Resignation

Columbian County Commissioner Galen Greenisen has been a member of the County Fair Board for many years. He has been a "sparkplug" in the agriculture society but not until this year has his membership been challenged by political opponents on the grounds that the two jobs are incompatible.

State Reps. Clarence Wetzel and Warren Bettis have even introduced a bill in the Ohio legislature to rule that fair board members are not public officials, thereby eliminating any conflict of the law.

Attorney General Mark McElroy, however, ruled earlier that the jobs are in conflict, and some county officials in the state resigned their fair board positions.

Mr. Greenisen probably will hang on, but if the new legislation isn't passed quickly by the General Assembly he has no alternative but to resign as a member of the Columbian County Fair Board.

Will a political ham actor pluck chickens in his hotel room?

Will the New York police be kept on duty around the clock to hold assassins at bay?

Will the pickets be required to saw pointed ends off sticks that bear placards, to keep mounted policemen's horses from being jabbed in the ribs?

Will the American press again lose its sense of balance and give the bully-boys of the Communist Conspiracy the VIP treatment?

Will every grunt and gesture of their Russian impresario be recorded and broadcast for the American people?

Will there be once more a disastrous loss of perspective that will cause the world to believe the biggest political figures on earth are space travelers in the Communist orbit?

The fact is that Premier Khrushchev officially never has given up the idea of coming to New York for the reconvened session of the U. N. General Assembly. All he has done, in effect, by not saying for certain he will come, is to create suspense. Does he really mean it?

If he really means it, would he have permitted the Russian people to see films of President Kennedy's press conferences on television. Would he have permitted speculation in Russia that he might be planning to come to New York this spring?

LAST FALL it was President Eisenhower's worry as to how to keep the non-Communist point of view from being blacked out by Communist showmanship at the United Nations. This spring it is President Kennedy's worry.

As the General Assembly resumes its 15th annual session this week, the fun may start again. As Khrushchev well knows by this time, all he needs to do is "make the score." What he does from then on will monopolize newspapers, television, radio and magazine coverage of the United Nations.

Mixing drinks isn't so bad — it's mixing drinks.

With poor roads and winter time ice, speed can easily lead to rocking and rolling.

Nobody Seems To Have The Porch Light On

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Any wildcatting flight engineer with a short wave receiving set handy at 3:13 p.m. on Feb. 24 could have heard his strike discussed by the East German radio in Berlin.

Because most of the strikers who tied up most of America's commercial aviation for six days probably were not listening and might not have understood German if they had tuned in, here are a few excerpts.

I pass these along because the cockpit engineers might again decide to ground U.S. jets if the White House special board rules against them on or before May 27. "Not a single plane of Pan-American Airlines," announced the East Berlin commentator, "has taken off or landed at Tempelhof Airport in West Berlin for three days because of the flight engineers' strike. Air transportation, called essential by West Berlin city politicians, has thus been suddenly curtailed."

"The instability of the front-line city and the anomalous nature of West Berlin's situation have thus again been clearly revealed.

"MAYOR BRANDT considered the situation so grave that he took the risk of demanding that the foreign occupying powers act against the strike."

"The panic of front-line city politicians went so far that the newspaper Der Tag demanded an 'airlift' as a countermeasure to the strike. . . . A small event in West Berlin has thus suddenly become a symptom revealing the instability of the front-line city and its untenable and anomalous situation."

Thus spoke the news correspondent over the Soviet-controlled radio. Of course, the world distant—had no more idea of what the East Berlin radio script writer would do with the news of their wildcat, than we correspondents have of Khrushchev's intentions to go barefoot again.

It's a small world, as the jet fly boys know. A sense of responsibility should be superimposed. Furthermore, if the political implications across the world were not obvious to the wildcaters, the financial ones should have been. It will be a while before we measure the global prestige this strike cost the United States. But now finally the money loss has been counted.

IT IS APPARENT that the strike cost went well above $60 million in little more than a week. It's only money and that may not match the heartache of three million pro-Western folk in West Berlin but it's enough money to put some of the airlines in the red, even if it doesn't do that for the West Berliners.

When Pan-American's accountants stopped counting the other day they reported a strike loss of some $9 million. This line's net take in '59 was some $7.7 million. Trans World Airlines' loss during the wildcat was $5 million.

In all, the eight struck airlines lost some $31 million during the six-day stoppage. Another $10 million was dropped during the mop-up period needed to slip back into smoothly-working daily schedules. And lest the $15,000-$6,000-a-year airline flight engineers forget their fellow workers, the other employees lost more than $12 million in pay when they were temporarily laid off.

Thus, there is documentary evidence of a $53 million loss right there.

I LEARNED in college physics that if the airplanes don't take off, the passengers don't fly—which meant that 700,000 people were grounded that week. From this comes a "radiating loss" as one of the government's aviation experts put it.

Just multiply the loss in fares for taxis, buses and other transportation to and from the airports by the number of grounded passengers. And what of the loss in profits of the thousands of service and food units at the hundreds of airports?

Hold that pencil and multiply some of these figures by the 64 commercial aviation strikes called since 1948. Add to this the fact that some 15 of these stoppages were simply the result of jurisdictional feuding between two unions. The total is appalling.

There must be an appeal to reason. There is only one force which can win if wildcatting pushes anyone into the Red.

Increased Confusion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Aid To Non-Public Schools Still Up In Air

President Kennedy in his press conference on Wednesday did not clear up but rather added to the confusion he has already created by his public discussion of the issue of whether federal funds may be used to aid non-public schools.

News reports of his press conference on March 1 gave the impression that he had said that there was "no room for debate on the constitutionality of any phase of the matter. So a reporter asked this question at the March 8 conference:

"Mr. President, you said last week, as I recall it, that there was no room for debate about this matter."

The President: "No room for debate about grants. There is obviously room for debate about loans, because it has been debated. My view, however, is that on the matter of loans to the best of my knowledge and judgment, this has not been tested by the courts, of course, in the sense that grants have been. But by my reading of the constitutional judgments in the Everson Case, my judgment has been that across-the-board loans are also unconstitutional."

What was said in the Everson Case as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States on Feb. 10, 1947? Here is the pertinent quotation:

"The 'establishment of religion' clause of the First Amendment means at least this: Neither a state nor the federal government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one religion, aid all religions or prefer one religion over another. Neither can force nor influence a person to go to or to remain away from church against his will or force him to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion."

"No person can be punished for entertaining or professing religious beliefs or disbeliefs, for church attendance or non-attendance."

"No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion."

PLAINLY the prohibition is against any aid whatsoever to religious teaching. There is no ban, however, against aid to a religious institution for anything that is not directly related to the teaching or practice of religion. Thus, in the bill which President Kennedy has sent to Congress providing scholarships for students who may attend any institution, public or non-public, religious or non-sectarian, there is a stipulation that $350 may be paid by the federal government as a "cost of education allowance" directly to the institution itself to supplement the scholarship payment made on behalf of the student.

This is, of course, a direct grant of aid and is no more related to the teaching of religion than any loan would be which is repayable with interest over a number of years.

The President was asked at his press conference whether he would veto such a bill. He said he would prefer to wait and see the measure before he made a decision but his present view was that such a bill was unconstitutional. He added:

"I think, it is very clear about what my view is of grants and loans across-the-board to non-public schools. Now colleges are in a different category."

"Specific programs of grants, even to colleges which are non-public, have been supported by the Congress and signed by the president. Loans and even grants to secondary education under some circumstances might be held to be constitutional, but across-the-board loans to all non-public schools, in my opinion, does raise a serious constitutional question which after reading the cases and giving it a good deal of thought, in my opinion is and to my judgment would be unconstitutional."

THERE IS no helpful explanation that can really be derived from reading the decisions of the Supreme Court. No differentiation is made in any decision between a grant and a loan. The whole issue revolves, therefore, around the form of aid.

Aid that helps teach religion is, of course, prohibited. Aid, however, that pays transportation by buses or gives fire or health protection or assists in the construction of fireproof buildings or classrooms is not an aid to religious education as such.

Mr. Kennedy told his press conference that he is "extremely sympathetic to those families who are paying their taxes for public education and also sustaining their children in non-public schools." He added that he believes there are constitutional barriers nevertheless that he has to take into account.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt had no such inhibitions. He used to tell Congress that, if they had any doubts about constitutionality, they might as well pass the legislation and let the courts decide afterward.

As for Congress, it will find millions of citizens objecting to any penalty or form of discrimination being imposed against parents who are already incurring a double expense for the education of their children.

The Fourteenth Amendment says that all citizens are entitled to "equal protection of the laws" of the states. The Supreme Court has also gone a step further and said that this principle must be applied to the "equal protection" of citizens under federal laws.

Revolutionary Watch

By FRANCIS STILLEY

For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — To most Americans Switzerland and a watchmaking go together.

Max Hetzel was one Swiss lad who didn't care a tick about watchmaking.

And what did he do? He wound up inventing an electronic age watch that not only doesn't tick but doesn't have to be wound.

He may wind up as less than a hero in his native land as a result.

Hetzel believes his new time-piece will make conventional watches obsolete eventually. Switzerland is renowned for manufacture of conventional watches.

Hetzel's watch is termed the first to employ a complete change in operating principles after more than 300 years of watchmaking.

Its works include a tiny electromagnet and transistors. It is powered by a dim-sized battery which costs $1.50 and lasts a year. The electromagnet operates a mechanical arm, which turns a ratchet wheel and that in turn makes the watch go.

Eliminated is the mainspring, the balance wheel and the hairspring. Hetzel's watch has 12 moving parts, compared with up to 26 in others.

The manufacturer says it doesn't need cleaning or oiling, should never need repairs under normal usage, and guarantees it to be accurate to within one minute a month. Hetzel figures only a few seconds.

And how did Hetzel, 39, an electronics engineer now becoming an American citizen, happen to devise an unprecedented kind of watch?

As a kind of boy genius at 12, he started making radios. Then he plunged into higher mathematics and by 16 he had built a powerful telescope and was plotting planets.

He won honors in high-level Swiss technical schools for electronics achievements and went to work inventing radio-television devices.

His friends thought he was crazy when he gave up a highly successful position as an electronics engineer with a Swiss firm to join an American watchmaking concern. None of them had ever heard of it and Hetzel cared nothing about watches. But he wanted to make a change.

In 1950, Hetzel saw a newspaper ad of the American company for electronics engineers, checked up on the firm and found it was quite a going concern. Hetzel soon proved a going concern also.

He was so adept at managing electronics aspects of one of its Swiss plants he found he had a lot of extra time on his hands.

The chairman of the company suggested he set his mind to devising a new concept in watchmaking. The concept came easy to Hetzel, but the application didn't.

"It took lots of hard work," he says.

"I made a large-scale model and began trying to reduce the parts to extremely small size."

"After that, I had to invent the machines to make the parts."

Amid this, Hetzel moved his wife and three children to this country, rose to chief physicist of the company and applied for American citizenship.

Now his company has put his watch on the market. Hetzel hopes he can soon get back to his first love—electronics in general.

He was asked what he had done with his first large-scale model of the electronic watch—saved it for a museum perhaps?

"Nah," replied Hetzel. "I threw it in the wastebasket a long time ago. I didn't think anybody would want it for anything."

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Most American Young People Are O.K.

April is the time of the year when poets sing of the beauties of spring. And citizens look up from income tax forms just long enough to commit multiple fractures of the Third Commandment.

Dr. H. T. Hyman to draw attention to some of the many hidden services rendered us by just one of our many federal agencies.

Here, for example, is a partial list of court actions taken on our behalf in a single month by the Federal Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare:

Obtained consent to condemn a $500 "therapeutic vibrator" that played a tape recording of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" while diagnosing and treating pathologic conditions of the head, lungs, heart, stomach, gall bladder, spleen, appendix and spine. To say nothing of cancer, cataracts and germ diseases.

FILED misbranding charges against a national distributor of food supplements for promoting the sale of an India-grown grass that purported "to keep men strong and virile until age 100 and women young and beautiful after they had passed 70 and even 80 years."

Obtained court orders to destroy a "sterile" eye preparation that was contaminated with live bacteria.

Seized and removed from the market $5 bottles of a sulfur bath preparation that promised relief for rheumatism, arthritis and skin diseases; herbal teas and tablets made from an Australian tree oil offered as a cure for athlete's foot, sinus troubles, skin conditions, gingivitis, pyorrhea, typhoid fever, ulcers, bad breath and asthma; and capsules of a gelatin powder that promised to beautify hair, prevent nails from splitting and cracking, curb appetite, reduce weight and build blood.

REMOVED from the market and destroyed 310 tons of rodent and insect - contaminated cocoa products, flour, rice, dried peas, dried beans and popcorn; 52 tons of rodent-contaminated bulk wheat; 28 tons of canned tomatoes, cat-soup and puree, containing fly eggs and maggots; 23 tons of moldy, insect-infested nuts; 15 tons of spoiled frozen eggs; 262 tons of apple pomace that had an excessive amount of DDT; shipments of cel-

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I need help—bad. I am married to a sniffer. Yes, that's what I said. She has a nose on her that would put a hunting hound to shame.

The minute I step inside the door she says: "Who did you have a drink with?" Or: "Swell perfume—somebody you work next to, I suppose?"

If I have a mint in my mouth she'll say: "What are you trying to cover up with that mint? Where've you been?"

Last week she said: "Your coat smells of heavy smoke. The tavern by the shop, eh?"

What beats me is the dame is always right. I get so mad I could crown her. Is there any way I can come out ahead? —DOC.

Dear Doc: No. She has your number. Play it straight and don't try to outsmart her. She'll win every time — by a nose.

Out of Control

Dear Ann: My husband and I need some advice regarding our 17-year-old daughter. She has been going steady, against our wishes, for three years. The fellow is 21. Last month he gave her an engagement ring — also against our wishes.

Our daughter always wanted to be a nurse. Her fiancé told her he doesn't want her to be a nurse. He has advised her that in the fall she must enroll in the university where he will be a senior. He says if we refuse to send her to his university she should go to work and save toward their marriage.

Does he have the right to dictate to her just because they are engaged? Or should she listen to her parents? —S.W.

Dear S.W.: Of course she should listen to her parents but she didn't listen to them when she was 14 — or 17 — so what Don't put all the blame on the boy for "dictating." Your daughter takes orders from him because she wants to. You lost control of her many years ago.

Insatiable Appetite

Dear Ann: I am counting on you to give me a tongue lashing so don't let me down.

I've lost 31 pounds and have started to fall back into my old eating habits. The penalty is 15 pounds gained back. This may not sound important to you but if I don't get control of myself I won't be able to fit into my cheerleading skirt. My mother says she will not buy me another stitch of clothing larger than a size 12. Still I continue to eat much more than I should.

Please shame me into getting back on my diet. I feel miserable after I've eaten a big piece of chocolate cake but I have no will power. — FAT-STUFF FROM KALAMAZOO.

Dear Fat-Stuff: I can't come to Kalamazoo and put a zipper on your lip, Toots. And shaming you is out of the question because you've done a thorough hatchet job on yourself which proves you've got a pretty tough hide.

A high school girl who loses 31 pounds and proceeds to gain back half of it needs a head doctor's help and guidance. Problems originating in your balcony are affecting the dimensions of your back porch.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Except for School, Girl Locked In Room Seven Years

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Except during school hours, she was locked in her room for seven years and never had a bath during that time, a 13-year-old related.

When a Juvenile Court official gave her a toothbrush and paste, the girl, Elaine Kensingner, said she didn't know what they were for.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Kensingner, are in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail each, charged with child neglect and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Elaine, her sister Mary, 4; and brothers Frank, 15, and Robert, 8, were taken to Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall.

"Never have I seen a more abominable, degrading and disgusting way of life for any person to be subjected to," Officer Sue Curtis said.

United, Lowellville Win In District A Tourney

Teams To Meet In Finale Saturday

Eagles Blast South Amherst 60-40; Rockets Nip Geneva Spencer 35-33

United Local's "Cinderella" basketball team continued along the Class A tournament trail Thursday night at Canton by blasting South Amherst 60-40 — and looked stronger than ever in doing it. Lowellville's Rockets pulled an upset in the final seconds of its game with Geneva Spencer 35-33 in the other game at Canton to move into the district finals against United Local Saturday at 6 p.m.

Rootstown will meet Liberty at 3 p.m. and Northwest will clash with Rittman at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the other two games to see which three teams will be vaulted into the Regionals next week.

Coach Larry Joseph's charges were never headed in the contest with the Lorain County foe as they established an early 13-7 first period lead and steadily increased it to 30-19 at halftime and 44-25 at the close of the third stanza.

The Eagles' biggest lead in the contest was 23 points, and was established with only one minute and 22 seconds left in the fray.

Coach Joseph cleared his bench in the final frame by using 11 players.

The Eagles' John Hanna garnered 26 points to lead both teams in scoring. Hanna's highest point output of the season was 29 against Salineville in regular season play.

Jerry Schaffer, who led the scoring in three of the Eagles' earlier journey encounters, meshed 17, while Larry Marks dumped in 10. Sherrill Hudson was high scorer for the Cavaliers with 14 markers, followed by teammate Bob Thompson with 10.

Deadly accuracy from the foul line and a strong defense proved to be the big factors in the fifth tournament win for the Eagles. United Local hit for 16 of 23 fouls for a 70 per cent. Hanna proved a big factor here as he sank 10 of 12 from the charity line. South Amherst had a cold night at the foul stripe by dumping in only six of 19 tries.

The Cavaliers also had a frigid evening from the floor in hitting only 23.5 per cent of their shots, while the Eagles were dumping in field goals at a 40 per cent clip.

United dominated the boards also

Ohio State Can Bag First Undefeated Season Saturday

Seeking an undefeated season after 23 consecutive victories, Ohio State University's Big Ten basketball champions will meet the University of Illinois at Champaign Saturday in the final game of the 1960-61 campaign.

The Buckeyes have established a new Ohio State record by winning the title two years in a row and if they can stop the Illinois, it will be the first time a Scarlet and Gray quintet has ever had an undefeated campaign. The game will be regionally televised, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

The Buckeyes, who now have won 28 straight, covering two seasons, compiled a 25-3 record last year. Rated No. 1 in the nation in the basketball coaches' poll, the Buckeyes have won 13 in a row in the Big Ten this year and 10 straight over non-conference foes, which include highly-rated St. Bonaventure, St. Johns and St. Louis.

The Ohio State-Illinois series stands 53 to 25 in favor of the Illinois.

One-Tenth of Ohio's Schools Remain In Basketball Action

By FRITZ HOWELL, Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only a tenth of Ohio's high school basketball teams were still in action today. All but 96 of the 954 total have been belted out of the running for the state championships.

With the district finals due this weekend, 16 in each class will survive for next week's regional play. A full program is scheduled to night and Saturday. Of the 555 Class A teams, 46 have survived the "lose and out" tournament grind, as have 50 of the 399 larger Class AA teams.

Thursday night's action was abbreviated, but it gave three of the Top Ten in the final Class AA poll a chance to advance. Cleveland East Tech's 1958 and 1959 champions nipped Parma 66-62 to enhance the second-place rating of the Scarabs; fourth-ranked Cleveland West Tech triumphed 70-53 over Oberlin, and unbeaten Columbus Linden McKinley, seventh in the poll, eased past Gahanna 44-42.

Newark's three-time state champions were the night's big victims, the Wildcats dropping a 53-49 decision to Columbus Grandview.

Kentucky Rips Vanderbilt

Marquette Wins; Tenn. State Upset

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's the biggest stumbling block in mighty Ohio State's bid to repeat as National Collegiate basketball champion? Down Blue Grass way, and maybe elsewhere too, they're likely to tell you it's Adolph Rupp, now that his revitalized Kentucky Wildcats have parlayed a 10-game winning streak into a record 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament.

The Wildcats, all but written off after they lost three of their first four conference games and won only eight of their first 15 over-all, showed Thursday night they've come all the way back by crushing Vanderbilt 88-67 in a neutral court playoff to determine the Southeastern Conference representative in the tournament.

Now it's on to the NCAA Mid-East regional at Louisville for the Wildcats. If Kentucky gets past its first NCAA game, March 17, and Ohio State also wins its first game, they'll be matched in the Mid-East regional final the next night.

For the record, Ohio State—everybody's No. 1 and now riding a 28-game winning streak — has lost only three games in the two years Jerry Lucas and buddies John Havlicek, Larry Siegfried and Mel Nowell have been together. One of the three losses was to you guessed it—the Kentucky Wildcats, 96-93, back in December 1959.

The Wildcats have one tune-up before the tournament opens—playing their regular season finals against another NCAA-bound team, Marquette, at Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

Marquette rallied behind Don Kojis to whip Xavier of Ohio, 77-74; NCAA-bound St. John's (N.Y.) pushed its winning streak to nine, 76-64 over New York U., and Tennessee State, the No. 2 small college power which had been clamoring for a bid to the National Invitation Tournament, was upset 92-82 by Winston-Salem Teachers in other features of Thursday night's programs. The loss knocked Tennessee State out of a return trip to the NAIA small college tournament at Kansas City, which State had won two of the last three years.

Oklahoma State defeated Oklahoma 60-47 to clinch at least a third place tie in the Big Eight Conference, and Manhattan ended its season with a 78-69 triumph over Fordham in other major games Thursday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Bill Russell's field goal with 15 seconds left gave Boston a 119-118 victory over Detroit, dropping the Pistons into a tie with Cincinnati for the only remaining play-off spot in the Western Division. Each club has two games left to play.

In the only other game Thursday night, Dolph Schayes 28 points paced Syracuse to a 129-119 victory over St. Louis.

Daugherty Eyes Scoring Crown

Needs 25 Points To Tie Pauline

First National Bank has already sewed up the second round title in the Salem Class A basketball league, but the race for the individual scoring crown isn't going to be determined until Monday, the final night of the season, when Beall Battery & Electric takes on Old Dutch.

Bill Pauline of Salem Stamping is the current leader. He finished the season with 387 points in 18 games for a 21.5 average.

RUNNER-UP Ed Daugherty of Beall's has 382 points and a 21.3 average, but he still has one game remaining to close the gap. Daugherty must score 25 points to tie or 26 to overhaul Pauline for the crown.

This won't be an easy task because Old Dutch, Beall's opponent Monday, has a good defensive record. In a first round meeting, Daugherty scored 20 points in his team's 63-62 loss to Old Dutch.

Old Dutch was the first round champion and now must meet First National to decide the season championship. No dates have been set for this series playoff.

NOW THAT THE PENNANT chase is over, the battle Monday night will be for second place. Bricker & Bricker and Old Dutch are currently tied for second with records of 6-2. While Old Dutch will be facing Beall's, Bricker's will be up against Coy Brothers Trucking, a team which has a 2-6 second round record.

After Monday night's action, a make-up game between Herron Transfer and Theron's IGA will be the only fray missing from the final standings.

Here are the standings and individual scoring leaders:

Dave Hunter Draws Raves at W & M; Another Salem-Struthers Feud?

Freshman Coach Joe Agee at William and Mary calls Salem High's former basketball sensation Dave Hunter, the best backcourt prospect at that college in the last decade.

The W & M frosh won eight games and lost four this season and the former Quaker great dominated the team statistics just as he did those at Salem last year.

Dave scored 314 points and wound up with a whopping 26.2 average. The second leading scorer had just 123 points and a 10.2 average.

"Dave will be VERY helpful to the varsity in the next three years," Coach Agee commented. "John Cabas deserves a great deal of credit for the job he has done."

THE WILLIAM & MARY mentor apparently has his eye on another Quaker cage standout. "We are very much interested in getting Don Davidson next year for basketball," Coach Agee remarked.

A few dozen other colleges are also interested in this 6-5 senior who could just about name his ticket in basketball or football. And more important, Davidson, like Hunter, is no slouch with the books.

Lou Slaby at Pittsburgh and Dan Krichbaum at Wooster are two other former SHS athletic stars in the last two years who would have been college scholarship material even if they had never worn a pair of sweat pants.

ALTHOUGH SALEM and Struthers High School will get together in football next season for the first time since 1955, it doesn't look as though the two schools will be meeting in basketball for a while — unless it happens to be in tournament play again.

There are apparently some hard

Salem Will Meet Warren Harding, If

Salem will be meeting Warren Harding in the District finals Youngstown Saturday if they get past the Poland Bulldogs tonight as a result of the Warren team's 59-50 win over Campbell Memorial on Thursday night.

The slightly-favored Warren quintet had it rough going for three quarters with the Memorial five before winning by the comfortable nine-point margin in the final stanza.

If the Quakers meet Warren on Saturday they will be seeking bitter revenge for the loss they suffered at the hands of the Trumbull County outfit in last year's tourney. Salem was an easy 85-65 winner over the Warren cagers earlier this season.

Ticket Sale Readied If Salem Plays Warren

If Salem wins its cage encounter with Poland tonight, tickets for the Saturday night's clash at Youngstown with Warren Harding will be on sale all day Saturday at Heddleston's Drug and Fisher's News Agency. Fred Cope, Salem High School athletic director, announced today.

Season ticket holders will have first choice of tickets, Cope said. He also said that those persons who purchased season tickets from the athletic office can get their tickets for Saturday night's game at the Junior High ticket office between 11 a.m. and noon Saturday.

Buckeyes Face Illini Saturday

Seek First Perfect Loop Mark Since '43

By The Associated Press
Ohio State will be out to write a page in Big Ten basketball history in a regular season win-and-loss game at Illinois Saturday.

The engagement, one of four ending the conference campaign, will be regionally televised starting at 4:30 p. m. EST.

The Buckeyes, top-ranked in the AP poll and crowned Big Ten champions a second straight year, need a victory to become the first conference team since 1919 to go through the season unbeaten.

Ohio State whose next goal will be a second successive NCAA championship, also would become the first team to win the Big Ten crown with a perfect league mark since the Illini Whiz Kids in 1943.

The Bucks ended the game with a 13-0 conference record and an all-game winning streak of 28 stretching back to last year.

"Fred Taylor, Buckeye coach, will have his team keyed as high as possible," says Coach Harry Combes, whose Illini lost 91-65 in their first meeting with the Bucks and have a 5-8 conference record.

"Taylor doesn't like our Huff Gym, and he's never forgotten what happened there in 1959 (Illinois won 81-80 then on a last-minute basket which was disputed by Ohio State).

"On top of that, Illinois was the last team which went unbeaten in the Big Ten. That's just an other angle Taylor can work on."

In other final games, Iowa and Purdue, each with 9-4 marks, will try to nail down runner-up spot. Iowa is at Northwestern (6-7) and Purdue is at Wisconsin (4-9) for an afternoon encounter. Michigan (2-11) is at Indiana (7-6).

Wellsville Is Ousted In Thriller

The Wellsville Tigers were eliminated from the Class AA District Tournament at New Concord 53-61 by Bellaire Thursday night in a flip-flopping contest that left the fans as weak from yelling and jumping as though they had participated in the fray.

The game was decided in a thrilling sudden death period amid ear-shattering bedlam of noise from the spectators.

The contest was tied 49-49 at the end of regulation play, and 51-51 at the end of the first overtime period.

Entering the sudden death frame Bellaire got the first shot and missed, retrieved the rebound and missed again. Bob Kiggins rebounded for Wellsville an passed down court to Roger Ours, but the pass was high and Ours couldn't control it.

Bellaire got the ball and lost it to Wellsville, but Junior Jones was called for steps and Bellaire took over again.

Boots Edwards then fired a long, arching jump shot from the corner to give Bellaire the win. Bellaire took a 13-7 lead in the first frame but the Tigers forged ahead 22-21 by the intermission. Wellsville retained its one-point margin 36-35 in the third stanza, but Bellaire tied the count 49-49 at the end of regulation play.

In the first overtime, Kiggins scored an early layup to put the Tigers ahead 51-49. Wellsville started a freeze with 11 seconds left, but Turner stole the ball and passed to Walker who missed his shot.

Edwards recovered and scored to tie the game 51-51 with three seconds left in the overtime.

Kiggins was high for Wellsville with 23. Edwards paced the winners with 18.
